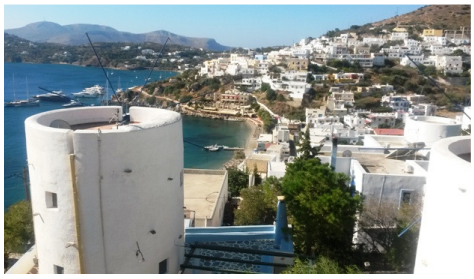
Lazing on Leros.....Aug. - Oct. 2016

It was lovely to have Birgit travel down with us for her 3rd visit to Leros- almost a native now! We indulged at El Greco´s- tadziki with ouzo, crispy kalamares, spinach and feta pies and did a good job of convincing ourselves that we would walk it off up and down the hills. Birgit, under pressure it must be said, is getting the hang of winding down Greek style!



And then came Lisbeth & Jes for their 2nd visit, staying in the charming windmill with a gorgeous but blowy terrace overlooking Pandeli. It´s for sale at 220,000 euros. A price as steep as the hills. Among other things, we enjoyed a peek into the lovely Evangelismos Church and an afternoon admiring unique the art deco architecture of Lakki, now being restored. We were also lucky enough to enjoy the gourmet dishes conjured up by Jes in a tiny kitchen! How does he do that?!
