

Markets & Vines - the Saone.....

Onwards past Macon where we had wonderful fish & chips in the packed marina restaurant, and dragged a huge lump of wood (that will make a great lamp or plant holder) out of the river, staggering 2 km with it balanced on our shopping trolley, through the lovely medieval town of Tournus with its wonderfully-named, medieval Abbaye Saint Philibert and pottery “poules” to another favorite spot- Chalons-sur-Saone. Terrific marina here just across the bridge from the medieval town and it’s fantastic market. And escargots dripping in garlic butter – we know we’re back in Burgundy among some of the country’s best vineyards... and it’s almost harvest time. And finally “home” to St.-Jean-de-Losne – our winter port 2021/22. We made it up the dreaded rivers!
